History of Photography

This course will start with the camera obscura and follow the development of the camera all the way to digital. We will view the earlier images that used the daguerreotype process, ambrotypes, tintypes, carte-de-visites, silver prints, and others.

We will review the milestone events in the field of photography which occurred in 1880 by George Eastman (Kodak) and in 1929 Edwin H Land (Polaroid). We will explore the different formats of cameras, from 35mm to large format and the different kinds of photographic images such as underwater, panoramic, macro etc. And the most dramatic event of all..... Color!!
