

Screenwriting- Advanced

Students who have completed both the “Screenwriting for Beginners” course and the first thirty pages of a narrative feature film will finish their screenplays in this advanced course. Students will continue to read Hollywood-produced screenplays and analyze classic Hollywood movies in order to understand screen storytelling conventions and master the basics of professional screenplay structure, especially as it relates to acts two and three of their scripts. Students will work from a fully realized treatment of their screenplays, and will also spend time discussing the business of screenplay writing.

All materials will be provided by the instructor, but students must have home computers and home internet access in order to download free online screenwriting software (students who already own/use screenwriting for-pay software programs can use their own). Students highly encouraged to bring laptops to class, if available.

Dates: Thursdays (8 week session)
• March 22 – May 10, 2012

Time: 6:30pm to 9:30pm

Location: Edison State College, Lee Campus, room to be announced

Cost: $290

Instructor: Jennifer Marquis-Muradaz is a multiple award-winning producer, screenwriter and author, and currently serves as the Artistic Director of the Peace River Film Festival in Punta Gorda. She holds a BFA from New York University and a MFA in Motion Picture Producing from the University of Southern California’s School of Cinematic Arts in Los Angeles, where she wrote, developed, coordinated and produced film and television projects for Danny DeVito’s Jersey Films, HBO, Fox Searchlight Pictures, Fox International Television, Lifetime Television’s Minority Filmmaker Series, and the Disney Channel. She is also an active and founding filmmaker with Blue Marble Films, a local documentary film production company.
